COUNCILMAN ACCUSED OF FORESTALLING

Town Council Scene of Interesting Time when Town Councilman Codori is Accused of Forestalling Curb Market. Retailer against Market Master.

Councilman Codori was accused at Tuesday night's meeting of the borough fathers of forestalling the market and also of buying on the streets of town during market hours. The charges, some of which Mr. Codori evidently knew of before the meeting, created quite a stir in the usually peaceful council chamber and led to some rather heated language.

Market Master Miller was present and his request for instructions regarding forestalling opened the trouble.

"I am one of the people charged with this," Mr. Codori announced, "because I bought four chickens, two of which I have eaten and two of which are now in my refrigerator. And I want to say right now that the market master is not attending to his duties. Everybody knows that storekeepers in town are buying by the wholesale at market to retail again. Wineman is doing it with potatoes and others are doing it with berries. We pay as much for a bushel of potatoes here as they do for a barrel in Baltimore."

Other councilmen resented the assertion that Mr. Miller was not attending to his duties. Mr. Butt and Mr. Armor especially taking the part of the market master.

While things were getting right lively Councilman Kitzmiller made the accusation that Mr. Codori bought chickens on the street, not at market, during market hours. Mr. Codori denied this whereupon the other members of the borough fathers said that then the owner of the chickens "told a story." Mr. Codori said that he ordered the chickens but did not buy them.

Further argument brought out the fact that Mr. Codori was charged with buying up chickens to sell at camp but it was intimated that he got wind of trouble brewing and as a result made no attempt to re-sell them.

Mr. Miller claimed he knew nothing of merchants buying berries by the crate to sell at retail but said he had heard Tuesday morning that E. P. Miller was doing it. The Market Master investigated this case and said that the berries were bought for Mr. Miller's private use and that the charge fell flat. Regarding peddling during market hours, which is alleged to be carried on, the market master said his duties at market kept him there and that he could not get after such offenders. Mr. Kitzmiller moved and Mr. Armor seconded the motion that the police be notified to watch for such offenders and to apprehend them. The motion was carried. Mr. Miller also denied an accusation that he had instructed stall holders to keep up prices.

The market hours were changed by an amendment to the ordinance but the change will not take effect until the amendment has been legally advertised. After that the hour for summer opening will be six o'clock instead of half past five and the winter market hours will be from 9 to 12 instead of from 7 to 10. It is believed this will be a convenience to all concerned.

OTHER MATTERS

Mr. Armor presented a letter to Council from the Newman Clock Company in which it was stated that the keys to the police registration boxes had been wilfully defaced and rendered useless. It was decided to have keys and clock returned and the system put in service again.

On motion of Mr. Koch seconded by Mr. Tawney it was decided that a light be placed at the alley on North Washington street between Chambersburg street and the railroad.

On motion of Mr. Koch seconded by Mr. Butt it was decided that a crossing be placed at the east side of the intersection of Franklin and Chambersburg streets.

The condition of the crossing at the Battlefield Hotel was referred to the Highway Committee with instructions to proceed as soon as convenient.

Mr. L. S. Coulson appeared before Council to ask Council to take action to open Buford avenue to allow construction of pavements and to remove the pile of stones in the street near the Meade building. Mr. Coulson, upon being asked, stated that a number had not signed the release necessary to the opening of the street. Mr. Tawney, of the Highway Committee stated that to be the reason the street had not been opened. It was decided that the necessary means be taken to open Buford avenue and West Middle street.

S. S. Neely, Esq., representing the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, stated that the Western Maryland had requested the Reading to pay one half

SOLDIERS ARE MORE ORDERLY

Request Comes from Camp to Close Bar Rooms at Eleven O'clock and it is Observed. Soldiers Take Team for Joy Ride.

The disorder which has prevailed in town every evening since the opening of camp was noticeably missing in Gettysburg Tuesday evening as a result of vigorous measures taken at division quarters during the day.

A request was sent to the various saloon keepers of town to close their bars at eleven o'clock. The request was virtually a command for had it not been obeyed either all troops would have been kept in camp or the town would have been put under martial law and the saloon keepers compelled to close. However, five minutes after eleven not a bar was open in Gettysburg and the town soon quieted down.

There was only one incident of any interest during the evening and that occurred when four Maryland militiamen took the two horse team of P. H. Raffensperger, the Bigerville mail carrier, from the square, and drove rapidly out Baltimore street. Detective Charles H. Wilson followed in another conveyance and soon had the joy riders back in the square. They were taken to camp by a detail from the provost guard. Mr. Wilson showed his customary skill in handling the case and took in charge the four soldiers without any assistance being required.

The trouble between various soldiers at camp continues. The officers are using every means possible to keep the alterations in check and now have matters well in hand.

One of the most recent cases of trouble occurred on York street when a colored trooper allowed his horse to run into that of a Virginia orderly. The Virginian whipped out his revolver and with the butt end struck the cavalryman a terrific blow over the face knocking him to the ground. He then told the negro to go to camp which he did.

HAYS-MARTIN

Miss Carrie Viola Martin, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Martin, of Hagerstown, and Rev. Clifford Elvin Hays, pastor of the Lutheran Church, McConnellsburg, and well known here, were married Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in Trinity Lutheran Church, Hagerstown, Rev. Dr. J. S. Simon, assisted by Rev. C. F. Sanders, professor in Gettysburg College, Gettysburg officiating. Mrs. Verna Viola Hays, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. Mr. John H. Marshall, Jr., was best man. The ushers were Messrs. Harry Newcomer, Lewis Eader, Harry W. Miller, Charles Fry, Hagerstown; Rev. George G. Parker, Cold Springs; Claude W. Waltemyer, Baltimore. A reception was held at the bride's home after the ceremony for the immediate relatives.

SALOON NEAR PEN MAR

Judge Keedy, of Hagerstown, on Tuesday filed an opinion dismissing the protest filed against the issuing of a license to John H. Ruth to open a saloon within 500 yards of Pen Mar Park, but at the same time he said it would require the greatest caution and good faith on the part of Ruth to run a saloon there and at the same time avoid the charge that the business is detrimental to the peace and order of Pen Mar. Judge Keedy expressed regret that the law did not vest the court with some discretion in matters of this kind.

the cost of a watchman at the Washington street crossing; and that the Reading had offered to pay one fourth. He also stated that for two years the road had ordered its trainmen to guard the crossing whenever shifting was being done. Mr. Tawney suggested that the Reading take prompt action as watchmen might be requested for the crossings at Buford and Springs avenues and West Middle street. Mr. Butt moved that the Secretary be directed to send a written request to the Western Maryland Railroad Company that a flagman be placed at the Washington street crossing and that the same be done promptly. The motion was carried.

Mr. Tawney moved that the Light Committee be instructed to have tungsten light placed at once on the York pike bridge over Rock Creek. The motion was carried.

PATHFINDER REACHES HERE

Munsey Automobile Tour Pathfinder Arrives in Gettysburg. Run will be One of the Notable Events of the Summer Season.

As noted in these columns yesterday the pathfinders for the Munsey historic tour, one of the classic automobile events of the season in the east arrived in Gettysburg Tuesday from Harrisburg. The pathfinder car is an E. M. F. "30" touring car, driven by Tom Skeggs, a popular driver who has seen service in many endurance runs. In the party to reach Gettysburg were Harry Ward, of the Washington Times; H. T. Ewald, of the E. M. F. Company, of Detroit, and E. G. Lynch, photographer.

Skeggs piloted the E. E. F. car that laid out the route for last year's Glidden tour and his work on that memorable trip stamped him as one of the best automobile drivers in this country. He also drove the same car this year in blazing the route for the "little Glidden tour," as the Minneapolis tour is termed.

Historically and scenically, this tour will be one of the most notable ever held in this country. Every foot of the way from Philadelphia to Boston, Portland, Plattsburg, Harrisburg, Gettysburg, Baltimore and Washington is endowed with historical associations and surroundings.

The pathfinders left Philadelphia June 15 and were given a great sendoff. Every city, town and hamlet on the proposed route is manifesting great interest in the tour and it promises to be the greatest automobile endurance contest ever held in this country. The Munsey historic tour will be run under grade 2 of the 1910 rules of the American Automobile Association, and that organization has given its official sanction for the tour. The rules provide strict penalization for time, road work, final outdoor test for brakes, clutches, etc., and final technical examination of all the cars at the conclusion of the tour.

While here the pathfinders went over the battlefield, Charles Sheads acting as guide.

CLAIMS MILITIA TEACH REGULARS

Adjutant General Stewart of Pennsylvania in Discussing Gettysburg Encampment Says Militia can be More quickly Moved.

"The regulars learn just as much from the militia as the guardsmen do from the regulars," said Adjutant General Thomas J. Stewart, speaking of the encampment now on at Gettysburg.

Then he explained by declaring that the National Guard of Pennsylvania is far ahead of the regular army in many things, such as the facility of movement of men, equipment and commissary supplies; in camp hygiene and in deportment.

Many times, said the Adjutant General, the officers of the regulars have expressed their amazement at the extraordinary quickness with which the State's guard does things as well as the facility with which large bodies of men are moved.

In the Pennsylvania Guard, General Stewart can at a moment's notice start troops upon any locality within the State from his home or office in Harrisburg, and the State arsenal in that city is ready for the moment's notice to start the canvas for any division and have it on the grounds in a few hours. The quickest movement of this sort was in the Shenandoah trouble, when General Stewart gave the first orders one morning between 1 and 2 o'clock and between 5 and 6 o'clock the same morning a regiment of infantry and a battery, horse and guns were in the town ready for service, and none there but the Sheriff knew they were coming.

It is facts such as these that arouse the admiration and envy of the regular army men.

As to disorder, General Stewart declares that the Pennsylvania guardsmen have a clean record for all their encampments, and that the only court-martial resulting from misbehavior in the State encampments was that of a regular army officer, a captain who was lowered by the War Department as a result.

JOHN A. POIST DIES AT HOME

Well Known McSherrystown Business Man Dies at his Home in that Place. Was Prominently Identified with Many Institutions.

John A. Poist, one of McSherrystown's most prominent business men died at his home Saturday, at 3.30 p. m., after an illness of four months from a complication of diseases, aged 60 years, 4 months and 20 days.

He was a son of the late James Poist and was twice married. His first wife was Miss Clara Hombach, daughter of the late Dr. Charles Hombach, who died in 1904. Three years ago he was united in marriage the second time to Miss Kathryn O'Farrell, of Hanover, who survives him with two daughters by his first wife—Miss Mary C. Poist and Mrs. John W. Keffer, both of McSherrystown. He is also survived by five brothers—Philip, William, Ignatius, Harry and James Poist, all of McSherrystown.

Mr. Poist was one of the largest manufacturers of cigars in McSherrystown, having started business in 1877 and continued until his death. He was prominent in the incorporation of McSherrystown as a borough, and was a member of its first Council. He was largely instrumental in promoting the building of the Hanover and McSherrystown Street Railway. He was one of the incorporators of the Farmers' Bank of McSherrystown, of which he was a director, and had been identified with every movement inaugurated for the progress of the town. He was a member of Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

The funeral was held at 9 a. m. Tuesday at St. Mary's Catholic Church, where a solemn mass of requiem was celebrated. Interment in St. Mary's Catholic Cemetery, Rev. Father Dailey officiating.

SCATTERED HIS MONEY

"Speaking of scattered money," said George D. Thorn, chief clerk of the State Department, to a reporter of the Harrisburg Star Independent, "reminds me of the old soldier who lived in the mountains near Gettysburg and who seldom had any use for money. He was awarded a pension and a large sum of back pay, amounting to about $200, and he went to the bank to get it. He said he wanted all of it, and when the bank cashier tried to tell him that it would be safer in the bank, and he could get it as he needed it at any time, he grew indignant and said he guessed he knew what he wanted. He wanted that money right then—right off the reel, for it was his. He frankly said he was going to spend it, and acted like a child with a nickel. The cashier began to "count" him out the $200 in silver dollars and halves and quarters, hoping the sight of such a big load would induce him to allow some of it to remain, but he kept calling for his money. Then the cashier began to pile up dollar bills but the old man was after the money, and after it had been piled up on the bank counter he opened his eyes wide and began to stuff the money into his coat, vest and trousers' pockets, and left the bank weighted down. He hadn't gone two blocks before a fellow sold him an old broken down horse and carriage for $150, to ride home in. It was worth about $10. When he got home a fellow sold him a cow. Then they must put up a stable in which to put the cow, and then another fellow sold him hay and feed for the cow. In fact he was the victim of every mountain buzzard that could get a hold of his money, and in a short time his cash was gone, and he was back in the same old rut. And his was not a singular case."

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEATH OF WOMAN

Body Found in River After Boating Trip With Men.

Stroudsburg, Pa., July 6.—There is much mystery surrounding the death of Lella Minsley, aged thirty years, whose body was found in the Delaware river about four miles below the Delaware Water Gap.

Joseph Devore, Richard Phillips and Miss Minsley were boating, and all, it is alleged, were under the influence of liquor. When the men awoke they missed the woman, but thought nothing strange, supposing she had left them and gone to her home. The chief of police and the district attorney were notified and directed that the New Jersey authorities be notified. An investigation is being held.

The woman is a native of this county. She has been living with Joseph Devore for several years, although Devore declares that they were not married.

CURTISS FLIES OVER OCEAN

Makes Sensational Flight at Atlantic City.

WENT TWO MILES TO SEA

Returned to Starting Point After an Eight Minute Flight—Going After Speed Prize For Fifty-Mile Course.

Atlantic City, July 6.—Glenn H. Curtiss made the first aeroplane trip over the Atlantic ocean, when he guided his biplane in an eight mile flight along the front of the city, going about two miles out to sea.

The trip extended in length from the Million Dollar pier to the Inlet and back to the Chelsea limits of the resort, with a final dash to his starting place. Although the high tide left a starting place in soft sand hardly fifty yards wide and only twice as long, the aviator secured a start from there that cleared his machine from the breakers in front of him, and he landed within a few feet of the tracks made as he started.

The successful flight was made soon after the first try, which nearly ended in disaster and smashed a stay of the flyer, after Curtiss had deftly eluded a breaker and driven his machine to the beach. An air eddy dropped him from a height of 100 yards to less than ten feet of the surface. Cheers from a crowd of spectators that packed the beach greeted both attempts, and a concerted yell went up when the daring man bird ended his real over-the-sea journey.

"I am perfectly satisfied now that we have proved the ability of the biplane to maneuver over the ocean as well as over the land with nothing like good weather conditions," declared the aviator as he was being congratulated after his successful flight. "Once I was clear of the sharp air currents that swept the beach I had perfect control of the machine and could have remained up much longer had I been sure that the tide wouldn't have entirely blotted out my landing place on the beach while I was in the air."

C. K. Hamilton was to have arrived here yesterday morning in time to attempt a flight in the afternoon, but he was delayed by his enlistment as a volunteer fireman at Farmingdale, N. J., where he hitched his automobile to a fire engine and drew it to a fire.

Along with P. L. Young and Hamilton Roberts, who were with him in the car, Hamilton dragged buckets of water and assisted in the finally successful fight against the fire.

Hamilton arrived in time to congratulate Curtiss. Brookins, Coffey and other aviators entered in the big contests will be here today. Curtiss is preparing to go after the $5000 prize offered for the best time over a fifty mile course.

PLUNGED INTO FIRE TO SAVE HER DOLL

Little Girl Fatally Burned at a Bonfire.

Van Cortlandt Park, N. Y., July 6.—While playing around a bonfire with her sister Martha, Angelina, the six-year-old daughter of Charles Kinderwatter, who owns a bakery in Ardsley, spied her doll's head in the flames. She plunged into the blaze and grabbed for the china head. Just then like Lawrence, a neighbor, lifted a burning branch, which caused the blaze to encircle the little girl. Her clothing caught fire and she was wreathed in flames. At the Dobbs Ferry hospital no hope is given for the child's recovery.

The Broken Leg

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

The Widow Spicer lived on the outskirts of the village of Fowlerville, and next to her little farm on the west lived Joe Tillman, a bashful man.

One evening he found her sister there. It was an evening in summer, and he had it all planned out to ask the widow how her tomatoes were coming along—if the potato bugs had appeared in the garden, if the summer squashes had begun to get necks on them, and various other things—and then all of a sudden he would ask her to marry him. It must be sudden or not at all.

The bashful Joe had been planning this plan for a week, but it was all upset by finding the sister there. Such was his embarrassment that he asked Mrs. Spicer to lend him a hive of bees instead of a hammer, and he had hardly got into the house when he wanted to get out again. After he had taken his departure the elder widow said to the younger:

"Sarah, how long has this thing been going on?"

"What thing?" she replied, with a guilty blush.

"This nonsense and waste of time. That fellow is in love with you, and a dog with one eye could see it."

"If he is he hasn't said so."

"Then it's your fault. You are as red as paint, and you needn't deny that you think a lot of him. Don't try to deceive a woman who has had three husbands. What I want to know is why you haven't married him?"

"Because I'm not going to marry again."

"Hoot-hoot! Don't talk foolishness."

"Well, then, Joe is a bashful man and hasn't asked me."

"That's better. There are some men born that way. I shall make it my business to cure this old bachel."

"Martha, if you interfere—"

"I shall stay right here until he pops the question. No widow under forty has any business to be a widow over a year. If I wasn't fifty-two I'd be married within six months."

"You'd rope in a man the same as a calf, I suppose?" asked Mrs. Spicer sarcastically. "But I forbid you to meddle with my affairs. I like Joe Tillman, but even if he was to ask me to marry him I don't think I'd do it—that is, I can't say that I would."

"Oh, well, we'll see about it," said the elder sister, and there the conversation dropped.

In making his visits to the widow Joe did not come by the highway running past both houses. Instead of that he cut across lots and approached her house from the rear. He had two fences to climb, and he always sat on the last fence for a time to get his courage up. Sister Martha, without pretending to see anything, noted this thing and planned accordingly. She planned for a jar. She was a very practical woman, and one day when her sister had gone to the store she hunted up a hand saw, and removing the top rail, she saved it almost in two and replaced it. It was just at the spot where Joe climbed over. It might work, and it might not. She would take her chances on that.

That evening, as the sun went down and the gloaming came on and the birds twittered their last notes and the skeeters began roaming for prey, Joe Tillman might have been observed making a sneak across the fields. He hadn't visited the widow for three nights, being in terror of her sister. He had stood it as long as he could and was now coming to borrow her barn or smokehouse or front fence. The two widows sat on the veranda and waited. One waited to see if Joe would come, and the other waited for the jar that had been planned for.

Joe and the jar arrived together. If his heart hadn't been beating so tumultuously as he laid hands on that top rail he would have noticed something wrong, but as it was he climbed up and took his seat and had scarcely begun his hitching around when there was a crash and he went backward head over heels.

A crash was heard on the veranda, and both widows uttered exclamations and rose up. Both reasoned it out that it was Joe Tillman. Both ran for the fence. Yes, it was Joe. He lay in a heap on the far side of the fence, a leg doubled under him, and the woman had to take down a lot of the rails to get over and at him. At the first groan he gave they knew his leg was broken. At the second they ran for a mattress and carried him into the house. The hired man was hauled up in the barnyard and dispatched for a doctor, and long enough before midnight the broken limb had been set and the patient was doing well. Indeed, he was doing so well that the Widow Spicer came out of the spare bedroom with blushing cheeks and said to her sister:

"Martha, what do you think has happened?"

"Hasn't broken the other leg bounding around, has he?"

"Joe has asked me to marry him!"

"Hoot! But I had given him two weeks to make up his mind!"

"But what do you know about it?"

"Why, I broke his leg. I made up my mind to break his leg or his neck to bring him to this, and now it won't be over six weeks before he can limp off to the preacher's with you and be married. Sarah, there is only one way to treat a bashful man who is in love with you—break his leg and make him talk."

A lot of folk fall down badly in their well meaning attempts at economy by reducing both the quantity and variety of the bill of fare beyond a point which is justifiable and reasonable. It doesn't pay to underfeed horses which have to work, nor does it pay human beings to take less food than is needed to maintain the body in a healthy condition and furnish the excess vitality consumed in labor. A lot of folks who subsist largely on potatoes, wheat bread and tea should balance their ration with bacon and eggs, beefsteak, corn bread and baked beans when they would get rid of that "tired feeling" which they suppose is due to a disordered liver or some other like cause.

Complaining.
We do not wisely when we vent complaint and censure. Human nature is more sensible of smart in suffering than of pleasure in rejoicing, and the present endurance easily takes up our thoughts. We cry out for a little pain when we do but smile for a great deal of contentment.—Feltman.

According to a statement of a Wyoming stockman at the last meeting of the National Live Stock association, it requires from 20 to 100 acres in his home state to pasture a steer, a horse or five sheep, the average area required being about thirty-five acres. Changed conditions involving a reduction in range areas and in many cases the necessity of fencing bid fair to make beef production under these conditions unprofitable. This means still further increases in the cost of meat products and also that the cheapest beef of the future will come from the great corn belt, the product of a more economical use of the stalks and leaves of this cereal crop.

In the recent oleomargarine hearing before the agricultural committee of the house of representatives at Washington it developed that practically 80 per cent of the oleo as it goes to the consumer is artificially colored to look like yellow butter, yet only 3 per cent of all the oleomargarine thus sold pays the ten cent tax. The Grout law, at present in force, provides that all oleomargarine artificially colored to look like butter shall pay the ten cent tax, yet from the above figures it appears that about 77 per cent of the colored article pays no tax at all, which would seem to show that, while the present law ought not to be repealed for the sake of the beef tallow and cottonseed oil producers, it ought to be patched up to protect the dairymen and ultimate consumer.

That a federal pure seed law should be enacted to buttress the laws at present operative in some of the states has recently been emphasized by some seed investigations which have been conducted by the Indiana experiment station. In samples of alfalfa seed collected in several counties thirty different kinds of weed seeds were found. In the seeding of one acre of ground at the rate of sixteen pounds per acre it was found that only the three purest samples of seed would deposit less than 10,000 weed seeds, while the worst would put into the soil as high as 175,000 seeds per acre. It is high time that the tillers of the soil were uniting in the demand for a national pure seed law which will free them from this sort of fraud and outrage, and one of these days some farseeing legislator will insure for himself a large place in the agricultural history of the country by leading the campaign for the enactment of just such a law. Of course unprincipled seed houses will have their lobbyists at Washington when the time comes, but they will only be able to block proceedings for a little while.

MILK FROM THE GOAT.

Boiled and Used With Coffee. It is Most Delicious.

The average length of a goat's life is about twelve years. Eight goats will subsist upon the amount of feed required for one cow. Some goats give from three to four quarts of milk daily. The proportion of households in Germany that keep goats is 75 per cent.

A TRIA C. ANGORA.

cent. Their keeping is not confined to the poorer people, but extends to the prosperous middle classes.

Goats are very fond of salt, which serves its purpose best when given properly. While some feeders prefer to supply loose salt at regular intervals, the usual practice is to place a lump of rock salt where the goats can help themselves whenever they desire to do so. If goats are accustomed to the use of salt they will not take too much of it, but instances are related where Angora goats have been killed by a too liberal supply of salt after having been deprived of it for some time.

Boiled and used with coffee, goat's milk is delicious, giving the latter a rich creamy appearance. A few drops in a cup of tea are more than equivalent to a teaspoonful of the milk of a cow.

It is a great misfortune not to have enough wit to speak well or not enough judgment to keep silent.—La Bruyere.

FIGHT FANS OUT SCENE OF BATTLE

Johnson and Jeffries Leave
Reno For Their Homes.

NEGRO SURPRISED SPORTS

Could Have Knocked Out White Man
Much Sooner—Champion Is Anxious to Fight Again.

Reno, Nev., July 6.—Jack Johnson, with his bass violin, his trainers and his camp equipment, is speeding toward Chicago in his special car. He is under contract to fill vaudeville engagements for a time and says he will be glad to get another fight soon, but so far as can be learned no man in the world is really eager to get into the ring with him.

Jim Jeffries left for his home in Southern California in his special car. As a result of the fight he is probably $100,000 richer, and the damage to his body and the humiliation will be healed by time.

Every train, east or west, is crowded to its fullest capacity with people eager to reach their homes. Most of the prize ring celebrities have departed and Reno has shrunk to its normal.

The talk among the sporting authorities who still remain here deals with the amazing superiority of Johnson in Monday's battle. It is agreed that Johnson could have knocked out Jeffries much sooner, and it is said that he wished to give the moving picture men films of proper length. Tales are told of attacks of Jeffries' camp who hedged at the last moment, being dissatisfied with the former champion's condition and temper and placed bets on Johnson. The colored population of Reno is not nearly so happy as might be expected, for many risked money on Jeffries. Johnson is not a hero among most of his race who have met him.

Sam Berger, manager of the defeated champion, said:
"Jeffries, of course, is bitterly disappointed. He feels, as he said after the fight, that the weight of public opinion drove him back into the ring and that his failure may not be viewed leniently, although he knows he did his best."

"Jeffries is in good spirits, considering his disappointment. He is going back to his home life. We expect to spend a day or two in San Francisco and then go south."

Berger was seated in the restaurant at the resort figuring over a pile of checks for the meals consumed by the camp retainers.

He said all of the loser's share of the purse and picture money had been turned over to Jeffries, and his work as manager was the last settling of bills.

Jeffries has talked little of the fight since he was brought back to his cottage, a beaten, bruised, brooding figure. As he walked around his house his stride seemed noticeably unsteady and his big head hung down on his breast.

The swelling around his right eye was very evident and there were numerous slight bruises and contusions around his nose and mouth, but his face showed little discoloration, the work of the rubbers and trainers having gone far toward removing the signs of defeat.

Johnson was $120,000 richer when Jeffries went down for the last time in Monday's fight. He took 50 per cent of the $104,000 purse, which amounted to $52,000, a bonus of $10,000, and he sold his picture interests for $50,000. Jeffries took a fortune out of the defeat at Johnson's hands. He received 40 per cent of the purse, amounting to $40,400, the bonus of $10,000, and he sold his picture interests for $65,656, making his total $117,000.

The owners of the picture films are calculating on making $1,000,000 profit out of their venture.

FIGHT CAUSE OF RIOTS

Many Clashes Between Whites and Blacks Over Johnson's Victory.

New Orleans, July 6.—As was expected, the Johnson-Jeffries prize fight, and especially its termination, caused a great deal of racial friction here, several riots and some loss of life. Joe Williams, Emil Hamann and Jim Lee are at the Charity hospital, having been shot by two young white men. The latter met the negroes and remarked that as Johnson had whipped a white man, they proposed to kill every negro they met, and then opened fire.

Ellis Washington, a negro, was badly beaten by a number of white men who were angry over Jeffries' defeat. John Hudson, a white boy, was badly slashed by a negro for shouting for Jeffries.

In a fight between whites and negroes at Alsatia and Enoke, in Madison parish, L. E. Roberts, a white man, and Henry Anderson, a negro, were killed and two other negroes mortally wounded.

Outbreak at Clarksburg, W. Va.
Wheeling, W. Va., July 6.—Rioting between whites and blacks was renewed at Clarksburg, W. Va., and there were numerous encounters between a mob of several hundred white men and a large number of negroes.

Pat McGann, white, was set upon by Shorty Harris and Ernest Dean, colored, and injured so severely that he may die. A white man named Jordan was later beaten by Dean and two other negroes, and a mob of whites was quickly formed, bent on lynching the three negroes. Dean escaped.

Negro Shot Dead.

Tyler, Tex., July 6.—A crowd of negroes engaged in a general fight following the accusation by one side that others had favored Jeffries, and as a result George Luck is dead from a pistol shot.

BAN ON FIGHT PICTURES

Baltimore Will Prohibit Exhibition of Films.

Baltimore, July 6.—The police commissioners have asked the mayor to prohibit the exhibition of moving pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight. Police Marshal Farnan is outspoken in his opposition. Said he: "We have a large colored population here, and the exhibition of the pictures might cause racial troubles."

Bars Up at Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., July 6.—There will be no revenue for the promoters of the Jeffries-Johnson fight films in Atlanta. This much will be definitely settled when city council meets to pass on an adopt a resolution prohibiting them from the city.

Cincinnati Will Bar Them.

Cincinnati, July 6.—Mayor Schwab said: "I will not allow the pictures of the Johnson-Jeffries fight to be shown in Cincinnati. It would not be consistent to bar an actual fight and then allow a photographic reproduction. But there is another reason for barring this particular fight. It will promote race hatred."

Washington May Bar Fight Pictures.

Washington, July 6.—Moving pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight may be barred from the District of Columbia. Police Chief Sylvester has announced that he will do his utmost to prevent the films from being shown.

DEATHS ON FOURTH DROP FROM 44 TO 28

"Sane" Celebration Also Cut Down List of Injured.

Chicago, July 6.—The value of a sensible and restrained observance of the Fourth of July has again been demonstrated by the casualty list of this year's celebration. In almost every city and town where the sale and explosion of fireworks were prohibited or restricted there has been a decided falling off in the number of dead and injured, compared with previous years.

This year's list of dead throughout the country, so far reported, totals 28. Last year the same total was 44. The whose number of injured last year was 2361. This year there were only 1785. These figures show enormous conservation of human life.

Dead, 28.—By fireworks and resulting fires, 7; by firearms, 11; by gunpowder, 4; by toy pistols, 6.

Injured, 1785.—By fireworks, 882; by cannon, 160; by gunpowder, 230; by torpedoes, 74; by toy pistols, 136; by bombcases, 21; by runaways, 28.

T. R. OPPOSED TO BALLINGER

Endorses Insurgent For United States Senator.

MAY SPLIT WITH TAFT

It Is Believed the Ballinger-Pinchot Controversy May Cause Break Between the President and Ex-President.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 6.—If Colonel Roosevelt is going to fall in line and endorse the administration, as a good many political sharps think he will do, he is employing a novel method of making his attitude known.

The colonel announced that several of the most rabid insurgent leaders in the country are coming to Sagamore Hill on Thursday. The conference gives every indication of being the most important gathering that Mr. Roosevelt has participated in since he got back from the other side, with the possible exception of the meeting with President Taft at Beverly last week, which apparently was not as satisfactory to the colonel as the Beverly dispatches would have it.

It has been stated frequently in the Oyster Bay dispatches that the ex-president is cautiously feeling his way before he lets the public in on how he feels toward the administration. It has been remarked, also, that the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy is the rock upon which Colonel Roosevelt and President Taft are likely to split. For the first time the colonel defined clearly his opposition to Secretary Ballinger by telling Representative Miles E. Poindexter that he will endorse his candidacy in the fight for the United States senatorship against Senator Piles, of Washington. Piles is identified with the Ballinger wing of the Republican party in the state of Washington. Poindexter is an out and out supporter of Pinchot and a militant insurgent.

There is, of course, the possibility that Mr. Roosevelt will support the administration in due time, but he certainly is in no hurry about it. He himself, has summoned nearly every one of his political visitors to Sagamore Hill. He wants to hear the insurgent side of the story first, and then, perhaps later, he may ask some of the regulars to drop in and explain the stand they have taken during his absence. Judging from his program, the colonel is going to work the New York state and national game together, because he believes they are pretty closely related.

In case the investigating committee that is looking into the Ballinger-Pinchot matter brings in a report to the president adverse to the secretary of the interior, which results in Ballinger's resignation or removal, whatever probable breach now exists may be healed. The colonel has been so fearful to have his position known on this matter that his personal comment is unnecessary. Without exception, his Sagamore Hill guests have kind words for Pinchot, and there is a lurking suspicion here that Mr. Ballinger will get out.

BALLINGER WON'T QUIT

Secretary Has Conference With President on Reclamation.

Beverly, Mass., July 6.—The reclamation service came up for a long discussion at the summer capital. Secretary of the Interior Ballinger got there early, went over to the Evans cottage on Burgess Point, and stayed there until night. He then left for Boston and Washington, without having resigned, but it is said in some circles here, with the scalp of Director F. R. Newell, of the reclamation service, in his portfolio. Mr. Ballinger absolutely refused to discuss the question of the removal of Mr. Newell. The White House preferred not to talk about it, too, but the impression prevailed that Mr. Newell's finish is coming swiftly.

The report that Mr. Newell is to go is based upon the undoubted fact that he and the secretary of the interior do not agree.

The secretary of the interior looked confident, stepped with a spring and laughed at the rumors that he had come to resign. "I haven't brought any resignation with me," said the secretary, "and I don't intend to leave any when I go away. I am not a quitter. I have gone into this thing and I intend to fight it out."

Life Sentence For Dr. Hyde.

Kansas City, July 6.—Dr. B. C. Hyde, convicted of having poisoned Colonel Thomas H. Swopes, millionaire philanthropist, was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor by Judge Latschaw. An appeal to the state supreme court was filed by Hyde's attorney, and until it is decided the prisoner will remain in the county jail here.

Endorse Folk For President.

Raleigh, N. C., July 6.—At the Democratic convention held at Windsor resolutions were adopted endorsing Joseph W. Folk, of Missouri, for the presidential nomination. Governor Folk's father was a native of Bertie county, N. C., and removed from the state when he was twenty-one years of age.

July - Clearance - Sale

Our Stock sheet for July 1st., shows us that stock is much too large for good storekeeping. We are determined to greatly decrease it in amount within the next few weeks; so we have Price Marked Lots of Goods in every department, to which the only question was, what Price will sell it?

We have also runnaged in every part of the store for Remnants and Odds and Ends, and the money saving on many of these articles, nearly all useable on the vacation trip, will add very materially towards paying the railroad fare and lengthening the stay.

FEWER ACRES, BETTER FARMING.

If there is one fact that needs impressing on the mind of the American soil tiller who is handling more than eighty acres it is that he could make just as much money in the long run and do it far easier and with a greater degree of satisfaction if he would work half as much land twice as well as the area he is at present handling. This fact is brought to light in the crop statistics—cold figures—which show the average yield of corn per acre for the country to be twenty-seven bushels, wheat fourteen bushels, oats between twenty and twenty-five bushels and potatoes from eighty to a hundred bushels, with the yields of other staple farm crops on a par with those mentioned. It is shown in the further fact that so few farms have the gardens they ought to have to raise vegetables and fruits for the home table. Reason—men too busy from daylight till dark tending crops, making hay and milking cows and the women folk too busy in the house feeding hungry men and washing and mending their shirts to take up this outside work as an extra burden. It is further shown in the fact that the average flock of hens is left to shift for themselves instead of being looked after systematically and made a source of substantial profit; further shown in so many men keeping herds of unprofitable cows simply because they are so swamped with work—that it is milking these same cows—that they don't find time to figure out whether they are paying for the stuff they eat. It is easier to offer advice than to put advice into practice, but it is from this reduction in the area worked by one man and the handling of it more intensively and intelligently that any regeneration in our agriculture must chiefly come. The time is past when slipshod, hit-and-go-miss methods can be employed on the farm and a fair interest return on money invested be realized. There is already in existence as a result of patient research and experiment a body of information which may properly be termed the science of farming, and wide awake tillers of the soil are looking to this in ever increasing numbers for information and assistance, while it seems clear that the others will have to do this if they continue much longer in the business. This science has to do with the fundamental facts of the chemistry of soils and the making of natural and artificial fertilizers. It states the causes of soil depletion and tells why rotation of crops is necessary. It takes up the question of balanced rations and shows what feeds may be most economically used to produce given results. It analyzes milk yields and makes possible the weeding out of unprofitable individuals of dairy herds, and it applies the tuberculin test and locates the diseased and unprofitable cow. It does these things and hundreds of others. It goes without saying that the farmer must get hold of as much of this information as possible if he would keep up with the procession. Unless he does so he is bound to become a straggler on the highway of progress.

A NEW WORM PEST.

Added to the conditions of drought which are always present, a portion of northeastern New Mexico, southern Colorado and a strip of the Texas Panhandle are being overrun with what is known as the New Mexico range caterpillar. The full grown larvae, which have a spiny and decidedly ugly appearance, frequently measure two and a half inches in length and are as thick as a man's forefinger. Counts which have been made of the number of caterpillars on small areas show that sections which are worst infested have as many as 20,000,000 of these huge worms to a square mile. The bureau of entomology of the department of agriculture has been making a study of the life history of this worm, its natural enemies and measures which are effective in its extinction and has published the data collected as Bulletin No. 85, part 5, bureau of entomology.

SERVING TWO MASTERS.

It beats all how a handful of...

or a ride in the easy going automobile of some smooth tongued representative of special interests at state or national capitals will befog the mind of a legislator relative to the plain duties devolving upon him as representative and trustee of the interests of his constituents. But the day is at hand when he will have to fish or cut bait and decide whom he will serve. This matter of the people paying lawmakers good fat salaries to represent them only to have them turn up later in the guise of easy marks and stool pigeons of capitalist interests is a type of traitorism that is viewed with increasing abhorrence in the mind of thinking people, and it's time the fellows who have belonged to this class repented in sackcloth and ashes or ran for their cyclone cellars.

Air slaked lime and common finely pulverized road dirt are said to be effective destroyers of the cabbage worm when sprinkled over them liberally. Water at a temperature of 130 to 150 degrees F. will also kill the worms and not injure the cabbages.

Horses will greatly appreciate the range of a yard or paddock during the warm summer nights, where a manger and feed box can easily be fixed for them and where they can roll and loaf to their hearts' content. The horses will appreciate the coolness and freshness of the night air.

The trouble with the dairy business in some sections of the country is that there are too many so called dairymen—keepers of cows—who are content with a scrub twenty dollar cow when they should have one costing $200. Just another case where the near nickel obscures the distant dollar.

His Contribution

By MARTHA HOTCHKISS

Mr. Keating was a young man who had a natural gift as a financial operator. Only twenty-six years old, he had carried through several deals in stocks. He had met Miss Ethel Lamb, who was quite willing to marry him. Not that he had asked her, for he had not; he wished to get himself in better financial shape before doing so.

"Mr. Keating," she said to him one evening, "I am so anxious to make a little money. I want it for a certain purpose. It's something I can't tell you about, for I have promised not to tell any one. You see, there are several of us interested in it, and I would not be justified in telling their secret."

"Certainly not. Some social move, I suppose?"

"No, it's not social."

"Oh, you are going in for some of these fads the rich women are taking up—woman voting, helping women operators who strike or something of that kind?"

"Nothing of the sort. I see you have got a wrong impression entirely, so I'll have to tell you."

"And she did. They were going to endow a colored church."

"That's a laudable object, and I'd be very mean not to help you. Would a hundred dollars do?"

"Yes, a tip when some stock you are going to make money in is going up, so that we can buy some of it. We can make all we want."

"In one fell swoop?"

"Yes, that's it. Without having to beg it in little bits, get up fairs and all that sort of thing."

"Very well. I'm thinking of a little scheme now. If it comes to anything I'll let you know."

Not long after that Mr. Keating called on Miss Lamb and asked if he could speak to her without being overheard. She shut all the doors, and he said to her in a low tone:

"If I give you a tip will you be sure not to tell any one?"

"Certainly."

"Well, buy Jimberjaw Lead. You'll make your $10,000. But if you should lose I'll stand your loss myself."

Miss Ethel Lamb thanked her informant, though she said it wouldn't be quite fair for him to stand any loss. Still, since there wouldn't be any loss, there wouldn't be anything for him to stand.

The next day she went to a friend who was a stockbroker and told him that she had received a tip on Jimberjaw Lead and asked him to buy some of the stock for her. She had no money to put up for a margin, but he told her that if she would convince him that the tip was reliable he would buy some stock for her without any margin.

Miss Lamb remembered her promise, but, considering the cause she was working for warranted her breaking it, concluded to tell him provided he would promise solemnly not to tell a single person. He promised, and she told him that the tip had come from Mr. Keating.

He opened his eyes, but said nothing, and the next morning he received a notice of the purchase of 500 shares of Jimberjaw Lead. As soon as she had left the office the broker told his partners that Keating had tipped a lady (the brokers happened to know Keating was attentive to that there was to be a movement in Jimberjaw Lead. This was done in the private office, where no one except the members of the firm could hear.

A number of customers doing business with the firm were quietly advised to buy a little of the stock without having been given the source from which the information about it came. But the clerks, seeing large orders for the shares going into the exchange, took fliers and confidentially told the clerks of other offices.

Very soon the price of Jimberjaw Lead began to rise, at first slowly, but in time rapidly. Then it began to jump. One morning Miss Lamb was informed by her broker that she had a profit of $6,000. Would she sell? She said she would like first to ask her tipster. She telephoned Keating for information, who told her to hold on and she would surely make her $10,000. This information she communicated to her brokers, and it radiated in many directions.

There were large sales of Jimberjaw Lead for a few days, the stock gaining and losing in price alternately; then it began to go down. Suddenly a large lot was dropped on the market, and Miss Lamb's profit was wiped out. From that time forward it sank slowly until she had lost some $3,000.

She sent for Mr. Keating.

"What shall I do?" she moaned.

"I've lost money I can't pay."

"Didn't I tell you I would stand your loss?"

"Yes, but I don't like to have you do that. Besides, the church?"

"I'll take care of the church."

This somewhat reassured her.

"I am abundantly able to give $10,000 to your church project since I have sold out shares that have been on my hands for two years at a handsome profit. You enabled me to do so."

"How?"

"By confiding my secret to another."

"You wretch!"

"I forgive you on one condition—that you help me to spend the profits as my wife."

The Price of Eloquence.

The auctioneer held up a battered fiddle.

"What am I offered for this antique violin?" he pathetically inquired. "Look it over. See the blurred finger marks of remorseless time. Note the stains of the hurrying years. To the merry notes of this fine old instrument the uncrowned dunes of fair France may have danced the minuet in glittering Versailles. Perhaps the vestal virgins marched to its stirring rhythms in the feasts of Lupercalia. Ha, it bears an abrasion—perhaps a touch of fire. Why, this may have been the very fiddle on which Nero played when Rome burned."

"Thirty cents," said a red nosed man in the front row.

"It's yours!" cried the auctioneer cheerfully. "What next?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

GARDENS AND NATURE STUDY.

Value of School Courses in These Subjects.

A CHICAGO FORESTER'S PLEA.

The Instruction in Plant Life Would Go Far in Supplementing Other Work—Idea Fast Becoming Popular in America—Cleveland Method an Instructive One.

The school garden is fast becoming popular in communities throughout the country. A plea for its development as a permanent part of the curriculum of schools and educational institutions for the reason that the study would produce a beneficial effect upon the pupils in their other work was made recently by J. H. Frost in an address before the members of the Ella Flag Young club in Chicago. In the course of his plea Mr. Frost said:

"Environment is a potent factor in the development of good citizens, influencing the character, habits and education of the child, and by providing trees, shrubs and flowers for the embellishment of the school—the most important educational agency—the child is supplied with new and growing interests which will help to broaden its ideas of life and make it richer in happiness.

"Our public school principals are putting forth persistent efforts to decorate the school buildings with flower boxes and the school grounds with trees, shrubs and flowers. I am agreeing surprised to find that this desire to have plant decorations about the school is strongly in evidence everywhere throughout the city. In some cases where the ground has been available the children have carried on gardening work under the direction and encouragement of their teachers."

Cleveland (O.) Schools as an Example.

"But, although they are willing, I am sure we are asking too much of our grade teachers when we allow them to devote extra time to the promotion of this work. I hope, however, that the time will come when our school board will appreciate the necessity and educational possibilities of this work and follow the example set by the public school board of Cleveland, O., which employs a number of teachers who have had practical as well as technical training in gardening."

"Their duty is to give advice and practical instruction to the teachers and children of the various schools and make drawings for the ornamentation of the grounds and plan the arrangements for children's gardens. Why cannot we have such teachers here?"

"The school garden furnishes many an interesting concrete subject for written composition, mathematical computation, business exercise, lessons in physical geography or exercise of free hand sketching or mechanical drawing. If brought into proper relation with the other subjects in the school curriculum it becomes an aid in teaching these subjects. By concentrating the attention of the pupils it lessens the time necessary for acquiring knowledge of them and thus results in no further crowding of the courses of study."

"Experience has shown that devoting four or five hours a week or even two hours a day to the study of manual training or domestic art enables the pupils to accomplish more in the remaining time than they formerly accomplished in the whole time spent in school. The same is most certainly true of nature study and gardening properly conducted."

Planning Town and City.

When anything is said or written of "the city beautiful" or a city "group plan" the comment of the average person is: "Delightfully ideal! A fine thing for big cities like New York, Chicago and Boston. It really ought to be done some time. But the cost is terrific!" The idea that should be kept in mind is that any kind of city improvement is absolutely practical, and profitable; that it is not only for big cities, but for the smallest town or village; that it is needed by every suburban real estate development; also that it is not costly. It need not mean a huge debt. Moreover, city improvement in any form is easily inaugurated. A few citizens of any community who have the right standards of life can start on its way a movement for city betterment that will eventually bring numberless advantages to all the citizens.

A sore neck on the horse may be aggravated by an adjustment of the lines which pull the heads of the animal too far in or out. More frequently the trouble is due to an ill fitting collar or one on which there have accumulated dirt and hair. Such dirt should be scraped off and the collar surface smoothed and softened if necessary by pounding. A washing of the sore shoulder in cold water in which a few drops of carbolic acid have been added will heal the sore spot quickly.

LAND MEASURING DEVICE.

If Well Made It Will Be Found Very Useful on the Farm.

To measure fields readily the handy device shown herewith will be found very useful. It consists of a heavy wire or light iron rod sixteen and a half feet long, bent into a circle and the ends welded together.

Across the circle at right angles to each other are two pieces of light wood five and a half feet long. Through the center of these a hole is bored and a double handle slightly longer than half the diameter is attached as shown by means of a bolt and nailed outside the rim of the circle. All that is necessary then is to mark one of the crosspieces and start measuring with this point on the ground.

The number of revolutions multiplied by sixteen and one-half will give the distance in rods across the field. Each quarter revolution, therefore, measures a quarter of a rod.

It is necessary in keeping this measure that the circle be not bent, because this would give inaccurate measure. It is therefore advisable to use iron heavy enough to stand ordinary knocks.—Orange Judd Farmer.

LESS SWARMING, MORE BEES.

Experience of Expert Apiarist in Making Increase of Colonies.

Speaking of the swarming period of bees, Secretary Smith of the Connecticut Bee Keepers' association recently had the following to say:

"Swarming is frequently so annoying to comb honey producers that a recent experience of mine may be helpful. On May 17 I found five or six capped queen cells in my best colony, and, desiring to prevent swarming and make a moderate increase of colonies, I removed five frames of brood, shaking all the bees back into the hive."

"The empty space was filled with frames of comb. All queen cells except one were destroyed. The five frames of brood, with the largest ripe queen cell and five frames of foundation, were placed in a new hive. Another strong colony was moved to a new stand and the new hive put in its place. The removed colony gave up a sufficient number of its bees to take care of the brood in the new hive, and by June 1 the latter contained a mated queen and a good number of young bees. The queen is a beauty and may have been nursed under the supererudite impulse in the first place; therefore she is strong."

"By this method one hive furnished the comb, brood and queen and another supplied the bees. I have three good colonies waiting for the clover honey flow instead of two and do not expect them to swarm. The day after robbing the first mentioned colony of its brood I found the bees at work in the super. But little has been done in supers, however, the weather being so cool and the honey supply so meager."

HANDLING GRAPEVINES.

Don't Allow Them to Grow at Random—How to Get the Best Fruit.

Summer attention of grapevines consists of pinching off any branches that are not wanted so as to get foliage evenly distributed. There will always be a tendency for the vines to make more branches and growth at the top so that everything should be done to correct as much as possible and induce growth at the bottom.

When the laterals show the bunches pinch off the end, always leaving a leaf beyond the bunch of grapes. The branch will continue to grow by throwing out a shoot at the axil of the leaf when the same operation should be repeated beyond the next leaf produced.

In this way all the strength will go to the fruit and excess of foliage and growth will be prevented.

This summer pinching will reduce the winter pruning very materially, but it will always be necessary to prune off the branches that have borne the grapes, just leaving the vertical canes, cutting the branches back every winter.

The work is pleasant and very simple. A little study will enable any one to grasp the principles. Apart from the better quality of grapes that will be produced the grape arbor will be a much more pleasing object than they often present when the vines are allowed to grow at random.—Farm Progress.

What a Farmer Must Know.

To be a farmer of the present time one must be learned in chemistry, a good carpenter, a fair machinist, an ordinary house painter, an accurate bookkeeper, a good veterinary surgeon, a competent civil engineer, know enough about law to keep out of court, be a shrewd buyer, an affable salesman and a good citizen.—Farm Press.

TALL OATS

We notice a great deal of boasting of tall oats, but can this be beaten. Squire Hammers passed through a field of oats on his mother's farm July 4, pulled up a stalk of oats every 25 steps, at the side of the field he had 8 stalks in his hand, each stalk measured 63 inches and averaged 100 grains of oats. We say to the money men of Adams if a farm will produce such stalks without lime and manure, it would, if improved, produce oats 8 feet high, and the widow has offered this farm for the last three years at $35 per acre, soil better than hundreds of gardens. Come and see the place, will sell at once.

BECOMING THE TOPIC

OF UNIVERSAL INTEREST

The remarkable results that are being accomplished throughout the state by the new remedy, Root Juice, are rapidly becoming the topic of universal interest. So many people are praising the remedy that the general interest in it is becoming widespread and it is now being sold in such enormous quantities that it is hard to supply the demand. It seems to soothe, heal and strengthen the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels with such rapidity that those who have suffered for years with indigestion, rheumatism, kidney troubles and nervousness notice great improvement before they have used the first bottle.

Mr. John K. Stevens, police officer, of 1313 Summit street, Fort Wayne, Ind., said: "I am glad to be able to truthfully say that I have found the great remedy to be all that was claimed for it. My kidneys and bladder were in a bad condition before I commenced taking it and had been so for some time, but I am now glad to say that I am entirely cured, and many of the city have told me the remedy has cured them."

The great remedy has cured many people at this point within the last few months. It is sold for one dollar a bottle, or three bottles for two dollars and a half. Those who wish to know more about it and would learn of the many cures it has made, should go to the People's drug store.
